

Candidate Brief Inspector Start date: Early 2020

HM INSPECTORATE OF PRISONS

Successive Chief Inspectors have summarised the Inspectorate's purpose as follows:

'We ensure independent inspection of places of detention, report on conditions and treatment and promote positive outcomes for those detained and the public.'

This statement of purpose derives from HM Chief Inspector of Prisons' legislative powers and duties and the UK's obligations arising from its status as a party to the Optional Protocol to the United Nations Convention Against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (OPCAT).

These powers and duties require the Chief Inspector to prepare an inspection programme and inspection framework, on which the relevant Secretary of State and other specified bodies must be consulted, and report independently on the treatment of prisoners, police and immigration detainees and the conditions in which they are held. The Chief Inspector jointly inspects police custody with HM Chief Inspector of Constabulary as part of the programme of work with other criminal justice inspectorates undertaken under the auspices of the Police and Justice Act 2006.

The Chief Inspector's responsibilities have been extended to court custody and, jointly with HM Chief Inspector of Constabulary, customs custody. By invitation HM Chief Inspector of Prisons also carries out inspection of military detention facilities, prisons in Northern Ireland (on behalf of Criminal Justice Inspection Northern Ireland), prisons on the Isle of Man and Channel Islands and some other overseas prisons in jurisdictions with links to the UK.

HM Inspectorate of Prisons coordinates and forms part of the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM), by which the UK delivers its obligations as an OPCAT signatory to ensure the regular, independent inspection of all places of custody to prevent the ill-treatment of detainees. At a national level, OPCAT requires States Parties to:

'... set up, designate or maintain at the domestic level one or several visiting bodies for the prevention of torture, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment... These visits shall be undertaken with a view to strengthening, if necessary, the protection of these persons against torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.'

In addition, OPCAT creates an obligation for NPMs to use the experience from their inspections to prevent ill-treatment by, for example, commenting on policy and legislative proposals.

HM Inspectorate of Prisons' Values

The established values of the Inspectorate are:

- Independence, impartiality and integrity are the foundations of our work.
- The experience of the detainee is at the heart of our inspections.
- Respect for human rights underpins our Expectations.
- We embrace diversity and are committed to pursuing equality of outcomes for all.
- We believe in the capacity of both individuals and organisations to change and improve, and that we have a part to play in initiating and encouraging change.

HM Inspectorate of Prisons' Equality and Diversity Statement

We are committed to creating and maintaining a working environment that is positive about and supportive of all equality and diversity issues. We believe that difference and diversity within our workforce strengthens the work we do and the influence we have.

We are committed to becoming an employer of choice by creating an inclusive and supportive working environment where people are treated with dignity and respect and where discrimination and/or exclusion are not tolerated. Our goal is to ensure these commitments, reinforced by our values, are embedded in our day-to-day working practices.

Our long-term vision is to:

- have a workforce with the necessary expertise and sufficient diversity to reflect the community in which it operates;
- develop a more flexible and supportive working environment which always seeks to include difference;
- continue to build a confident and competent workforce who feel valued and heard;
- deliver learning and development opportunities to our staff so they are equipped to understand, inspect and make valid and relevant recommendations relating to equality and diversity.

We expect commitment and involvement from all our staff and partners in working towards the achievement of our vision and to that end we have developed an equality and diversity action plan

Strategy

The Inspectorate's recent Corporate Plan sets out five strategic themes:

- An independent inspectorate

We will fulfil our statutory duty. Our primary task to report accurately, impartially and publicly concerning the treatment and conditions for detainees will continue. Our values-based approach, our independent Expectations and our methodology will support us in ensuring human rights standards are maintained and outcomes for detainees improve across the different custodial settings we inspect.

- An influential inspectorate

We will inspect and report in an open way, challenging constructively those responsible for the institutions we inspect. We will ensure that evidence from our inspections informs policy and practice and contributes to improving outcomes for those held in custody. Our communications strategy will ensure that findings from our inspections are made accessible to a wide range of stakeholders, including the public.

- An accountable inspectorate

We will manage our resources efficiently and undertake our work in a professional manner. We will account for our performance and continue to demonstrate value for money.

- A capable inspectorate

We will be a multidisciplinary, values-based organisation committed to equipping our staff with the skills they need to fulfil our purpose. We will strive to increase the diversity of our workforce. We will use our resources efficiently to maximise the quality of our inspections and improve treatment and conditions for detainees.

- A collaborative inspectorate

We will meet our statutory obligation to work collaboratively with our criminal justice partners, as well as other key stakeholder partners, to better promote conditions for detainees. As the coordinating body for the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM), we will work with the NPM membership to increase OPCAT compliance and coordinate joint working.

The Inspectorate in 2019/20

During 2019/20 HM Inspectorate of Prisons plans to undertake approximately 90 inspections reporting publicly on our findings. This will include inspection of prisons, young offender institutions and secure training centres, immigration removal centres and a range of holding facilities and escorts associated with immigration removal arrangements. Jointly with HM Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services, we will also inspect custody in eight Police Force areas.

We assess prisons against four tests of a healthy prison (which are slightly amended for different types of custody):

- Safety: prisoners, even the most vulnerable, are held safely.
- Respect: prisoners are treated with respect for their human dignity.
- Purposeful activity: prisoners are able, and expected, to engage in activity that is likely to benefit them.
- Rehabilitation and release planning: prisoners are prepared for their release back into the community. Their risk of harm is effectively managed and they are helped to reduce their likelihood of reoffending.

Each test is underpinned by 'expectations' or inspection standards that set out the outcomes we expect to see, based on relevant international human rights standards and norms.

Inspection teams consist of a team leader and a number of full-time, sessional and specialist inspectors. They are assisted by researchers and will be joined as appropriate by inspectors from other inspectorates such as Ofsted, the Care Quality Commission, HM Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services and HM Inspectorate of Probation. All teams inspect a range of establishments but each has a specialist role, including children, young adults, women, adult male prisoners, immigration and police custody.

The logistics of each inspection are complex. Most inspections are unannounced, to make our visits more responsive to risk and our inspection programme more unpredictable and flexible. During this business year all but four of our inspections will be unannounced. A prison inspection lasts about seven or eight working days over two weeks. About 12 inspectors and researchers are present for the whole or part of the inspection.

In addition to our programme of individual inspections, we carry out thematic inspections of cross-cutting issues. Some of these are conducted jointly with other inspectorates.

We also undertake between 15-20 Independent Reviews of Progress each year to assess the progress a prison is making in meeting our recommendations. These are shorter announced visits to an establishment and involve a smaller team of inspectors.

The Inspectorate is led by the Chief and Deputy Chief Inspector. There are currently 70¹ staff working for the Inspectorate, including full-time staff, secondees and a number of fee-paid associates such as editors and health inspectors. The Inspectorate is currently organised into five specialist inspection teams, a research, development and thematic team and a support team. Each is headed by a team leader who, together with the Chief and Deputy Chief Inspector, forms the corporate management of the Inspectorate. The small office-based teams consist of the Chief and Deputy Chief Inspectors and their personal secretaries, as well as the research, development and thematic team and secretariat team.

Office-based staff are accommodated in a HM Government shared hub building in Canary Wharf, London.

In 2019/20, the budget for HM Inspectorate of Prisons is £5,206,729.

ABOUT THE ROLE

HM Inspectorate of Prisons are looking for Inspectors to inspect custody across a range of sectors. These include:

- General/Prison Estate
- Immigration Detention

HMIP inspect a range of custodial establishments: prisons, young offender institutions, immigration removal centres and police custody suites. On behalf of the Chief Inspector, we assess outcomes against our published healthy prisons tests which reflect the criteria or Expectations against which we inspect. We also follow up the responses to the recommendations we make. Each team consists of a team leader and several core inspectors. Teams are assisted by researchers and specialist inspectors, examining such issues as education and training, health and drugs. The candidates will be allocated to a team according to their skills but will also routinely inspect all types of prison and other forms of custody.

Most inspections take place over two weeks, so role of inspector requires a considerable amount of time working away from home. For example, if you are coordinating an inspection for your team, you might be away for two nights on the first week, and then four or five nights on the following week. This will sometimes include leaving on Sunday afternoon to start work early on a Monday. If you are just attending the full inspection week, rather than coordinating, you will only be required to attend the second week. Essentially, inspectors need to be very flexible, but the Inspectorate will offer a balanced workload that provides time at home between inspections. Across the year, you are likely to complete on average 17 or 18 full weeks away on inspection.

Frequent travel within the UK (and possibly abroad) will be required, and you will spend at least one week in three away on inspection, as well as travelling for meetings and other events. You will also need to be available to come to London for internal and external meetings on a regular basis. A preparedness to travel and work away from home is a key requirement of the role.

- draw accurate and objective conclusions from the evidence gathered
- discuss, evaluate and debate findings with the team leader and other team members
- need to be an excellent team player throughout the inspection weeks, supporting colleagues and constructively contributing to on-site discussions and judgements
- brief senior managers in the establishment about your developing findings, and participate in the debrief at the end of the inspection
- write up your findings clearly and concisely the week after an inspection, to tight timescales and wordcounts (and using information technology)
- monitor policy and practice in relation to those in custody and help ensure that your team, and the Inspectorate in general, keeps abreast of these developments
- attend meetings and conferences, where required, on behalf of the Inspectorate
- assist with policy papers, briefings and thematic reviews, as required.
